In New York city, evening schools have grown to be an institution, I'rovision for teachers, &c. are made by the state school system and it is believed that twenty thousand of the working population of the city will take advantage, the coming winter, of the oppotunities offered them by the night school.

STANLEY, the New York Herald man, acquired a taste for African travel in his search for Livingstone. He is now in Africa engaged in exploring the Juba river and other rivers to the north of Zangibar. He travels in his own yacht, and announces that he will make himself acquainted with the great seats of the slave trade in Africa.

THE English papers are divided on the question of the Prince of Wales' debts. Some of them commend the princely spirit exhibited by the heir to the throne in the way he has managed his financial matters, and one expresses the opinion that the English people would prefer that the prince should "overleap the bounds of prudence than that he should exhibit the wretched parsimonious spirit which charactorized his father, and by which his second brother, the Duke of Edinburg, is unenviably distinguished." But this writer is in the minority party, and if a proposition to pay the Prince's debts is made in the House of Commons, a contest ticipated.

A few weeks since a quiet canvass. If nothing were said, he HAY, CORN, correspondent of the New York Herald would be returned to congress without visited Princeton, N. J., where the bones difficulty. The more excitement there is of Burr repose; in conversation with several persons he found that the story of the duced to study him and his remidnight burial had no foundation in fact; cord and the record of his party he had the testimony of the old man who put up the stone, and found that the work of his success. He therefore quietly moves was done at noon-day with no effort at secrecy, and that Burr's relatives had ord- praying with the church members ered it done. A cay or two since Mr. Parton wrote to the editor of the Herali, expressing his gratitude that the ridiculous "story about the erection of the monument had been exploded," and acknowledging his indebtedness to the Herald for the opportunity to purge his text of an erroneous statement.

OUTRAGES IN SOUTHERN ILLI-NOIS.

The attention of Governor Beveridge and the Republican party of this State is urgently called to the deplorable condition of affairs in Southern Illinois.

A few days ago, citizens of Anna, Union county, received notice that they must discharge all the negroes in their employ and send the negroes out of the county or suffer the consequences. These ku-klux demonstrations created not a little unessiness in Anna, and fears are entertained that the threats were not made for an idle purpose.

A tew days ago, in Randolph county, masked men took out of his house in the night time, a negro man who had refused to obey a notice to leave the county, and tied him to a tree and flogged him.

In Williamson county lawlessness is running riot. Almost every day a citizen is assassinated -shot down without warning on the public highway by concealed assessins. Eight or ten persons have been murdered in cold blood, and no person has been punished.

If these events had happened in the South, all the people of the North would have been excited, and the administration would have been urged to send troops to the lawiess districts. If these events had happened in Tennessee, and Gov. Brown had remained as passive as Gov. Beveridge has, he would have been denounced as the friend of the assassins. But these outrages bave been perpetrated in Radical Illinois-in a Radical congressional district - most of them in Radical counties-and nothing is said nothing is done. The press is ellent and Gov. Beveridge continues to doze undisturbed in his official easy chair at Springfield.

MISS SHERMAN AND PRINCE ARTHUR

The marriage of Gen. Sherman's daughter Maria in Washington last week made TWO DOLLARS PER The following Central Committee that young lady an object of more than | 298-10-1-tf usual interest, and was the occasion for the revival of a story concerning her which will bear being retold.

When Prince Arthur visited the United States a few years since, Sir Edward Thornton, British minister at Washington, in return for the many kindnesses shown the Prince by Washington society, gave a ball, at which the elite of the capital were present. Prince Arthur honored Miss Sherman by requesting her hand for the first waltz, and that young lady, true daughter of Tecumsel, honest, unaffected and uninfluenced by the fact that it was a prince whom she was refusing, honored herself by answering, "thank you, but the rules of my church do not allow me to 'do' the round dances," Prince Arthur showed himself a gentleman as well as a prince, and remained in conversation with Miss Sherman until 'The Lancors' was announced and then led her to the dance The pleasing conclusion of this incident was as honorable to Prince Arthur as it was complimentary to Miss Sherman, Un his return to England, he sent to the young lady a superb locket of Etruscan gold, ornamented on one side with a torquoise surrounded with diamonds and containing on the other the Prince's portrait. This elegant gift was sent to Miss Sherman with the assurance that it was presented to the young lady whom of all others in America, the Prince admired the mest. The moral of this incident we will leave our Tuis is very good for the Carmi Times: young lady readers to pick out for them"Doar me, how fluidly be talks," said Mrs. selves, reminding them that it would be Partington, recently at one of Bill Anderunreasonable to expect, should they go son's meetings. "I am always rejoiced and do likewise, that their reward will come in the shape Miss Sherman's did; to refuse to dance with a prince is a privilege vouchesfed to few young ladies, but gentlemen are not such rara avis gems in America as they are sometimes supposed to be.

RISE UP, WILLIAM HARTZELL, AND RALLY THE BOYS.

Mr. William Hartzell, the Democratic Liberal candidate for congress in this district, must rise up and rally the boys, or he will find himself distanced by Mr-Clements, who rose up early in the campaign and has been busy in the rallying business ever since.

Mr. William Hartzell, the Democratic-Liberal candidate for congress in this district, might as well learn first as last that upon his own individual exertions he must depend for success in the pending canvass. He cannot depend upon the gentlemen of his party who have heretofore taken an active part in political canvasses, and also all the nominations of the party. Their clarion voices are no longer heard upon the stump appealing to the people in behalf of the Republic to vote early and vote right. They have become quiet and mournful. Like Cato they have retired to their granges and are praying for the good of Rome. Mr. William Hartzell, Liberal-Democratic candidate for congress, must get along without them, or he will not get along at all.

Mr. William Hartzell must not forget that this is the off year in politics. There is no president to elect, no governor, no such as has not been witnessed in the important state officers—in the language English parliament for a long time is an. of the street-"no nothing." In such a canvass, the people will not ferment, unless they are coaxed to do so by those who MR JAMES PARTON, in his life of Aaron have personal interest in the result of the election, the only two men who in this gave a romantic account of the burial of congressional district have such an inter-Burr. According to Parton, Burr's tomb- est are Mr. William Hartzell and Mr. -the more the people are in--the more precarious become the chances around among the people, shaking bands, and cursing with the sinners. In doing so he is wise unto his own success His triends, too, are at work, and thus far the canvass has been satisfactory to him and them.

This condition of the canvass must be changed. Mr. William Hartzell should rise up, and Mr. Hartzell's political friends should also rise up, and they should go to work for success. It they will do so, and labor with zeal, Mr. Isaac Clements will be defeated as he should be. The interests of this district demand the defeat of all such men as Mr. Issac Clements, and every citizen of the district has an interest, personal to himself, in working to defeat him. Mr. William Hartzell's friends can make this proposition plain to the public apprehension if they will only rise up and make the attempt.

It will never do to go on as we have been since the Anna convention. We must either go to work or throw up the LIQUOR DEALER sponge. But we will not throw up the sponge, with success almost certain, if it is labored for. Then let us go to work, all of us-Mr. William Hartzell and Mr. William Hartzell's friends. Let us rise up, and let the boys be railied. Blow your bugle, Mr. William Hertzell, and wake Cairo Box and Basket Co the echoes and-your friends.
